

Care Coordination

RelWare® OneRecord Care Coordination™ allows clinicians to coordinate health maintenance activities such as routinely scheduled physicals, blood tests, mammograms, and physical therapy. Clinicians use the software to manage chronic diseases based on diagnoses and risk factors. Programs are set up based on a range of criteria with significant management capabilities. Care Coordination brings essential healthcare coordination components to the enterprise and supports a breadth of features for improving best-practice methodologies within any organization.

With program information integrated within the patient record, the system helps automate the process of program-based care with systems of alerts and enrollment criteria, while maintaining the information in a consolidated GUI. Patient records designated for care management activities are flagged within OneRecord. Care management activity coordinators create, set up, and test programs while the system auto-populates programs with patients based on predetermined criteria.

RelWare® OneRecord Care Coordination Features

- Wizard-based configuration of care management programs
- Automated placement of patients into programs based on appropriate risk factors configured by program coordinators
- Manual enrollment of any patients into programs
- Support for risk factors and combined risk factors as valid program criteria, as well as multiple variables for program enrollment
- Automated program population based upon configured criteria providing a comprehensive way to treat the community
- Feasibility testing for new or modified programs or activities
- Clinical inbox alerts for a variety of conditions such as overdue tests and abnormal results
- Program piloting, versioning, compliance auditing, and other key care management program functions
- Role-based, group-based, and team-based security and access models

How many different systems does it take to get complete patient information? . . . Only OneRecord™

The OneRecord for Healthcare™

32255 Northwestern Hwy., Suite 150
Farmington Hills, MI 48334
877-735-9273 toll free